Venues include the enchanting Palmehaven, a unique room which can accommodate up to 240 guests seated among the palms, and Britannia Hall, a grand space for a cocktail reception, dinner and dancing.

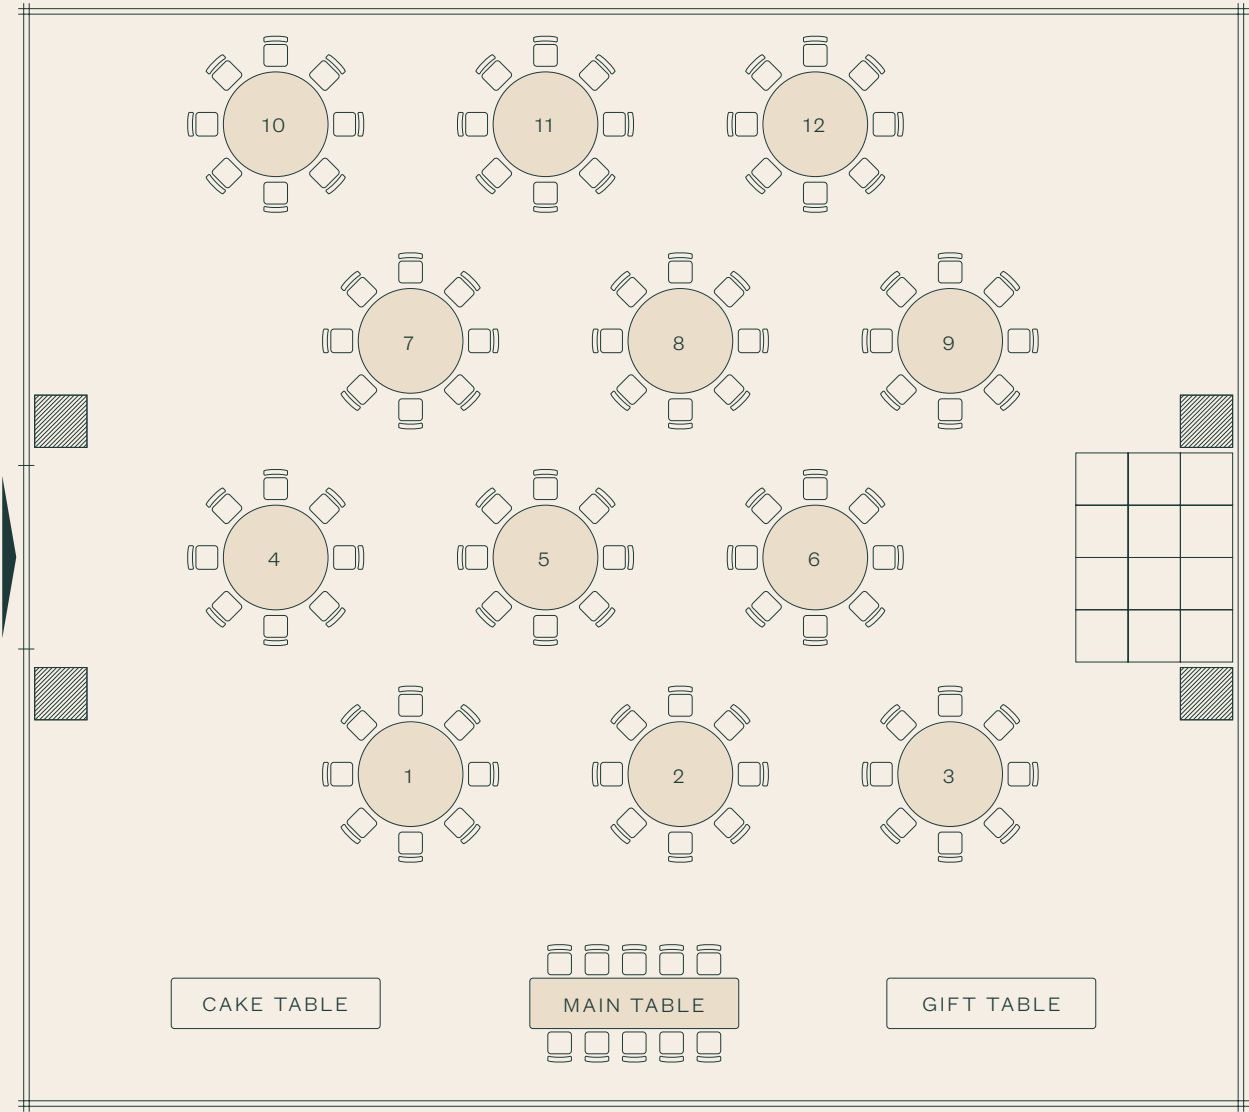

“Walking into this elegant atmosphere makes me feel like I am part of history.” — Sissel Kyrkjebø

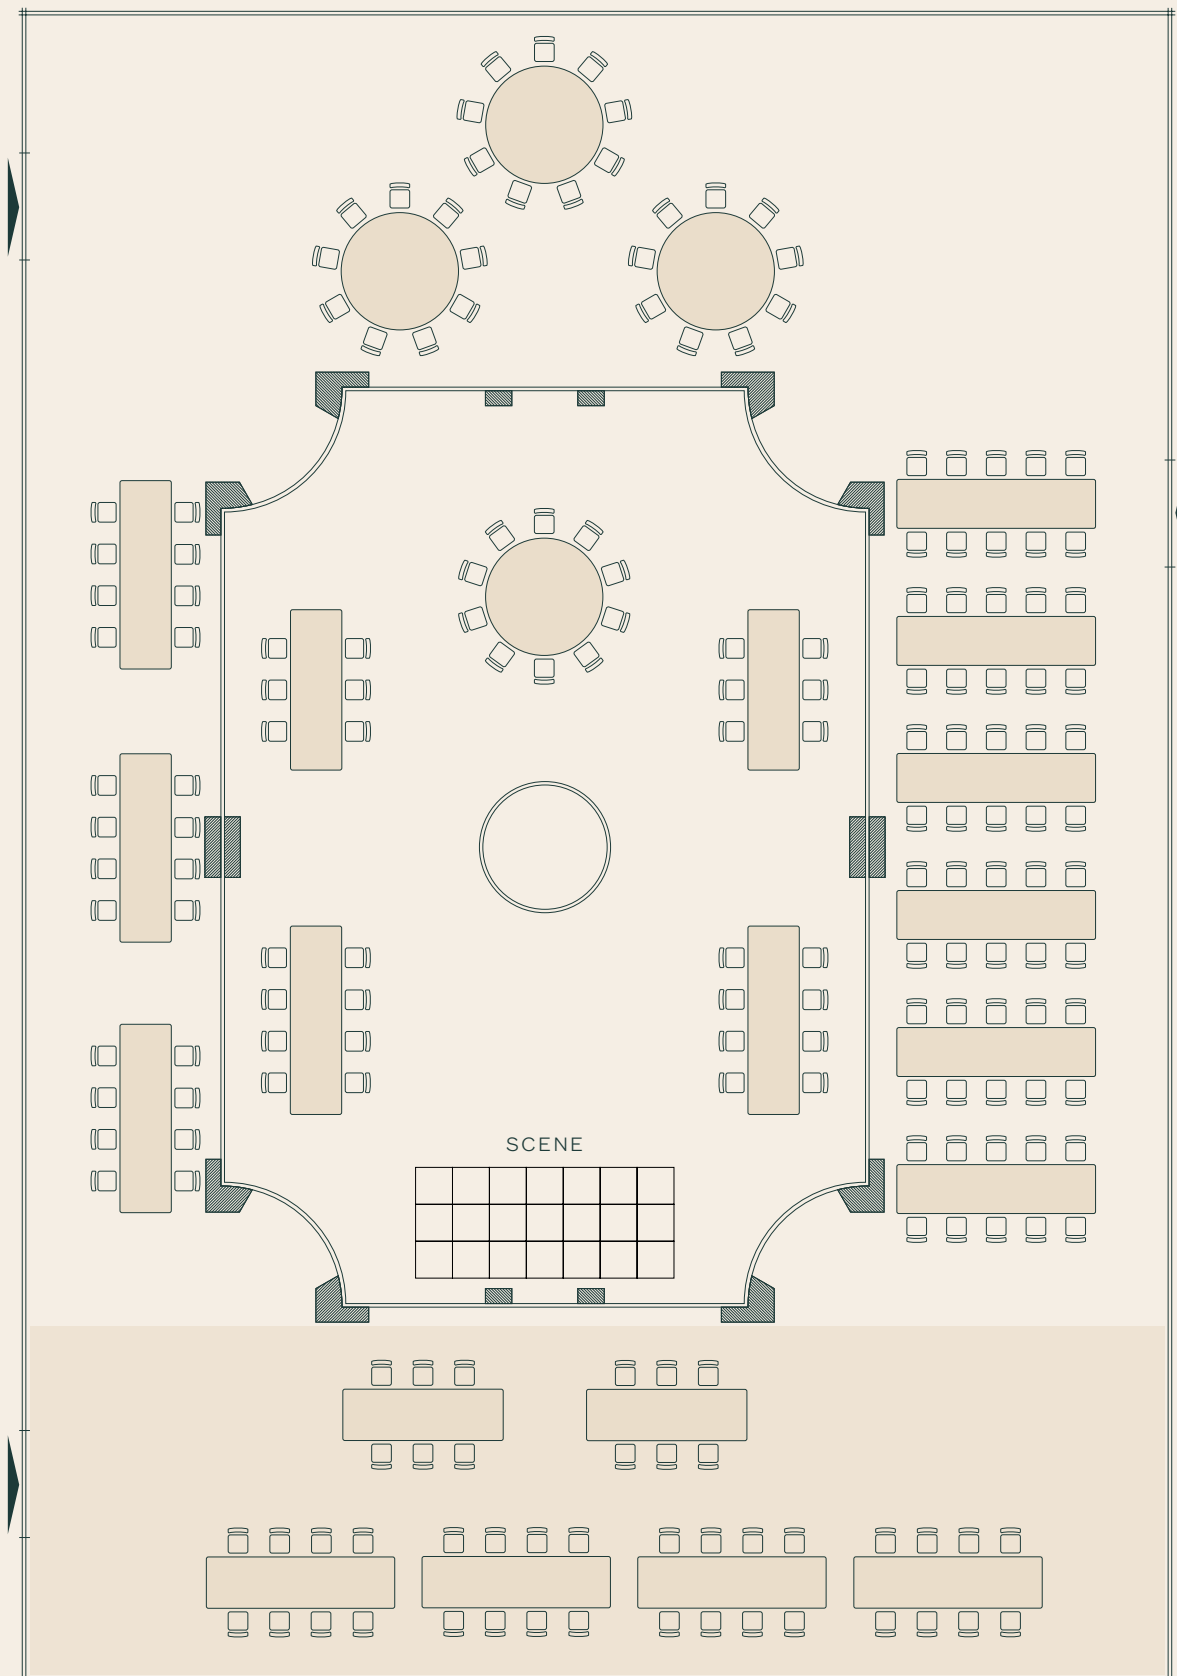

Britannia Hall

Britannia Hall – an example table layout in a banquet setting, with eight guests per table, stage, cake and gift tables, and main table. Round tables can seat up to nine guests and the room can accommodate up to 18 tables. See details on the following page or speak to your wedding planner for alternative table set ups.

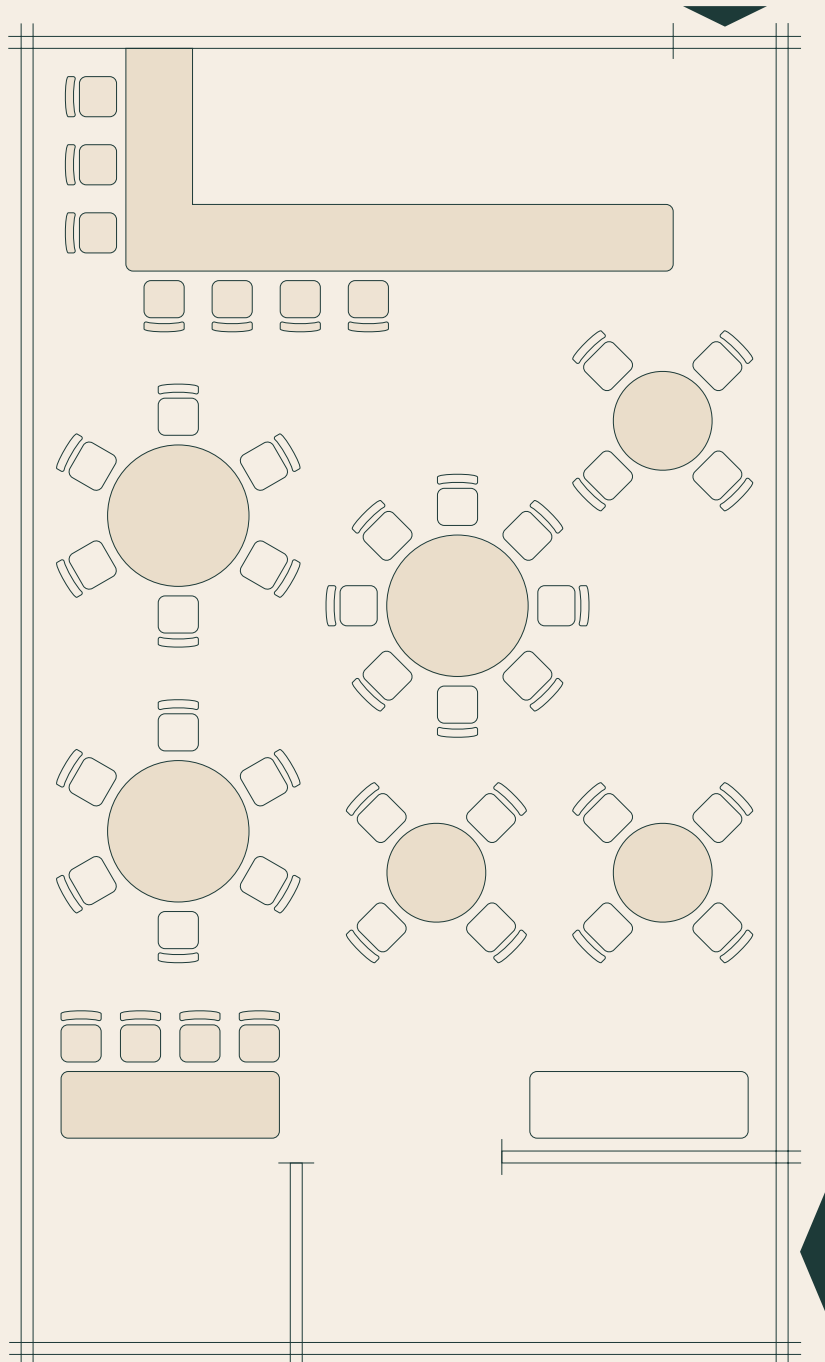

Palmehaven

This versatile space can accommodate many different layouts, one of which is visualised here. This setting seats 149 guests comfortably, with a round head table in the centre beside the fountain, leaving a stage and space for entertainment and dancing on the tiled floor. The shaded out tables can be added to extend the capacity.

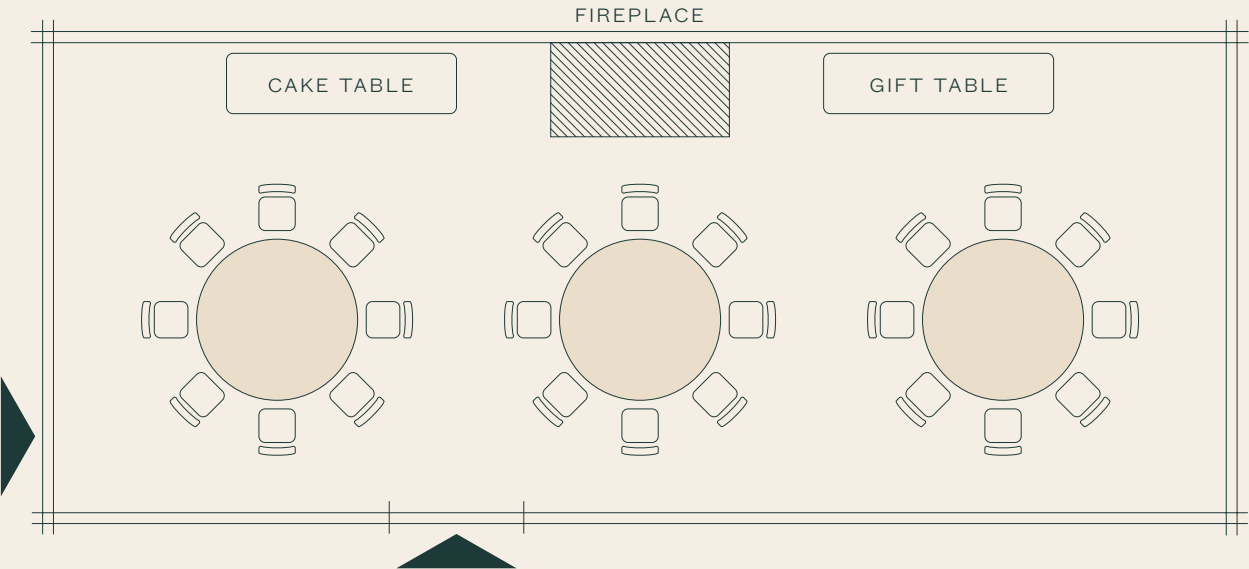

Speilsalen

This room was renovated in 2020 to enable a more intimate setting for diners. When hosting a large event in this beautiful, gilded room, we recommend not having guests seated at the caviar bar and chef's table (the benches at the top and bottom of the illustration). These seats are included here for reference (shaded out).

Wedel Jarlsberg

One of our most traditional celebration spaces. The suggested layout below accommodates three beautifully-decorated round tables, each seating eight guests (nine is possible). It is possible to fit more guests in the room with an elegant long table in their place.

Britannia Hall

Trondheim's classic ballroom, with high ceilings, famous artwork, chandeliers and impressive floor-to-ceiling windows.

Britannia Hall can be adapted for dinner-seating with various table set ups, cocktail receptions, dancing and more. The recently renovated room boasts hidden sound technology (speakers recessed into the walls), a removable stage and the potential to be combined with the adjacent marble-floored lobby. The perfect space for those who require a splendid yet adaptable venue.

Seats up to 180 in banquet setting.

Britannia Hall contains a notable artwork; a triptych from the artists Håkon Bleken and Håkon Gullvåg, measuring an immense 4x12 meters.

Palmhaven first opened on 17th May, 1918. The historic room has gone on to host countless special occasions, and has etched itself into the memories of many a wedding couple over the years.

Palmhaven

With its unique architecture, starry ceiling and exotic palms, Palmhaven creates a warm and intimate setting for big occasions.

The beauty of this room's layout - a leafy oasis in the centre of the city - is that it functions for both small and large events. Much of Britannia's allure is wrapped up in this space and every guest creates a connection. Royalty have dined here before you, and will again, relationships have started and matured, history has been created. This is the space for the most memorable of weddings.

Seats up to 240 with hire of entire room.

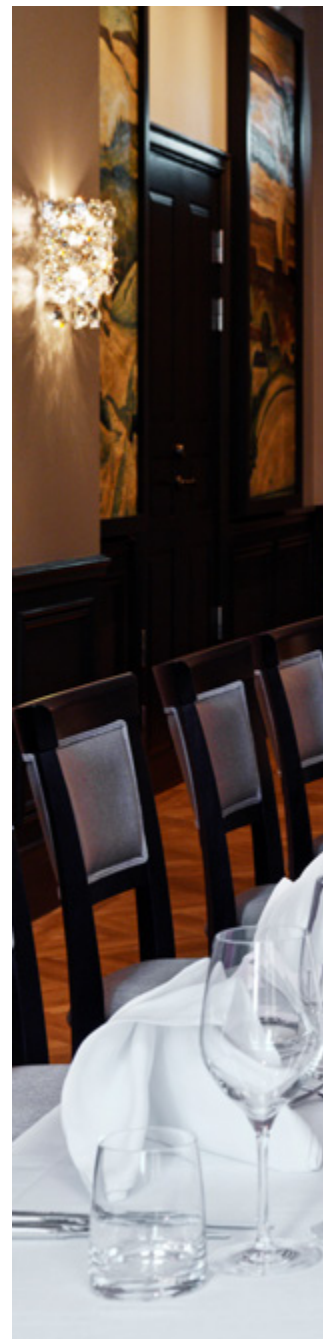

Wedel Jarlsberg

An historic room adjoining the glamorous Britannia Bar. The intimate settings are perfect for smaller weddings with immediate family.

Wedel Jarlsberg is a gallery of history, with paintings from 1920s Trondheim hanging on all walls and two elegant chandeliers. The dimensions may be smaller than other rooms, but the experience is in no way diminished. A focus on great food, excellent drink pairings and five-star service make for an occasion personified by perfection.

Wedel Jarlsberg can accommodate parties of 15-32 people.

The large paintings in Wedel Jarlsberg, showing several of Trondheim's landmarks, were donated by Jarle Berg in 1929, in payment for a food and drink bill he was unable to settle!

Speilsalen

One of Britannia's oldest rooms, which has hosted countless celebrations over the years. Speilsalen is a hallowed space, encircled by beautiful mirrors and ornate fittings, reminiscent of a palace ballroom.

The room's ancient grandeur is accompanied by Michelin-starred food and gastronomic pleasure. Speilsalen offers the finest handpicked Norwegian produce prepared with the utmost care and respect. The perfect setting for exclusive weddings, where no detail is overlooked and taste is the foremost goal of every effort.

Can seat up to 45 guests.

OUR MICHELIN STAR

Today, the culinary dance is led by Bocuse d'Or silver winner Christopher Davidsen.

Speilsalen was awarded its first Michelin star in 2020, just ten months after opening.

Christopher Davidsen's cuisine, served to perfection in a room which has hosted some of Norway's most seminal occasions. A wedding celebrated in Speilsalen is an occasion quite unlike any other.
